Poultry Project

Poultry is learning about chickens, ducks, and turkeys. Poultry is also about learning what breed the bird is and what each bird does for a living. What I learned about in the last poultry meeting is what you want to feed your chickens. When you first get your chickens, you want to give them medicated food and electrolytes. Once they are about ten to twelve weeks old you can start giving them broiler feed.

I also learned that you want to know that different breeds behave differently. Like the Black Australorpes are very quite and Buff Orpingtons are very loud. The new Hampshire Reds are also very loud and competitive at fair.

2017 State Record Book Competition

June 30th: Members must complete an Intent to Submit Form to their county office if they are planning to or thinking about submitting their book to State Competition. Completing this form does not obligate the member to submit, rather it is intended to alert county volunteers and staff working with record books so that they are prepared to provide support to members.

June 30th: Members must complete the Record Book Quick Start Course if they plan to submit their book to State Competition. This is earlier than the past two years so that members have ample time to prepare their books.

Suggestions for Successful Still Exhibits

1. All items, whether craft or clothing, will be clean both inside and out. Mending or other repairs neatly finished. Buttons, hems, seams, zippers, etc., trimmed and secured.
2. Craft items need to be clean or polished; any item to be hung requires a secure hanger. Photos and drawings should follow the exact specifications set forth in the Fair Premium. Exhibits that might break (i.e. model car) may be fastened to a base.
3. Food exhibits must be freshly made. Canning exhibits require two jar lids. Lids need to be tightly secured and natural colored. Dried foods need only one exhibit, but have requirements on the number items in the exhibit. Bakery exhibits have specific requirements as to number and amount. Follow instructions in the Fair Premium Book. Cover fresh baked goods with clear plastic wrap or place in Ziploc

4-H Easter Egg Hunt

The 4-H Easter Egg Hunt on April 15th was well attended and it did not rain on us this year. About 450 eggs were hidden in a larger area for our 6 and above group and most of them were found very quickly. Thanks to Ayden McManus the Easter Egg Hunt Chairperson and his committee Ayden McManus, Zoe McManus, Ryleigh Bennett and Jaden Bennett for strategically hiding the prize eggs throughout the area. The 5 and under group found their eggs quickly and had fun choosing their prizes. Approximately 30 youth scampered about to find the 570 hidden eggs.

“Bucket Calf Project”

- Ages: 6 & older
- Start Date: June 19st 2017
- End Date: Del Norte County Fair
- When: Every Tuesday during the summer
- Where: Alexandre Dairy
- Time: 5:30 - 6:30 p.m.
- Cost: $23.00 to cover 4-H enrollment/accident insurance

This project is designed for kids 6 years old and above. Younger children must have an accompanying adult who will work with them (or older sibling) to insure safety. Children will use a calf born in April or May at the Alexandre Dairy. They will learn how to work with a calf, train it to walk with a halter, and learn other aspect of a dairy farm at the meetings. The calves will remain in the care of Alexandre Dairy. The Bucket Calf Dairy Show is Thursday, August 4th at the Del Norte County Fairgrounds.

This is a true “hands on” learning experience. Parents need to be prepared to help their child work with their baby calf and get dirty. The calves can be frisky at this age, so please wear appropriate footwear (no flip flops or sandals). Kids and parents are welcome (and encouraged) to come to the dairy at anytime to work with their calf after the first meeting. It is recommended to come early to the meetings to catch your calf and have it ready to go.

Any questions call, 4-H office at 464-4711. Sign up and choose your calf at the first meeting on Monday, June 19th at 5:30 p.m.

Making Meetings Matter

By

Marianne Bird

All of us have been to them: meetings that are boring, unproductive or frustrating. Some of us have even led a meeting or two like that. Whether it's our community club, management board, or program development committee, meetings need to be worth our time. As president or key leader, you're responsible for creating the tone and outcomes for the gathering. Some thoughts for meeting leaders:

- Know the purpose of your meeting: All meetings need to have a reason behind them, and "meeting on the third Thursday of the month because we always do" is not a good one. Why are you gathering? To plan? Make a decision? Learn? Have fun? Be specific and write it down so everyone know.
- Know what you need to accomplish: Before you meet, list what the meeting will produce. Meeting outcomes are tangible "things" that we come away with: an agreement, a list of ideas, a timeline, a sense of community. For clubs, maybe it's a chance for kids to practice presenting or a decision about what service project to adopt. Maybe for the camp committee it's agreement on a marketing strategy and individual commitments to take on tasks. Leaders goals plan meeting outcomes and, at the end of the gathering, have the group assess whether or not they've accomplished what they set out to do.
- Create an agenda to meet your goals: Think through how you're going to get to your outcomes. Listing "marketing" on the agenda, opening it up to discussion and hoping people come to agreement may not be the best path to creating a product. Break the goal down in smaller tasks that flow to the end you desire. Brainstorm ideas; discuss pros and cons; eliminate ideas that the group agrees aren't plausible; agree on the best strategy; list steps to accomplish the strategy; agree on tasks and who will do them.
- Seek agreement: Voting is not the only way to make a decision, nor is it always the best. At larger club meetings, voting may be the go-to strategy, but in smaller groups consensus is often sought. Be clear from the beginning what decision-making method is used and seek agreement throughout the gathering - beginning with the agenda and ending with the next steps.
- Honor people's time: Come prepared. Begin and end when you say you will. If the group's work is getting bogged down with things that could easily be done outside the meeting, delegate and report back.

Good meetings don't just happen because people get together; they're planned. If you're sitting at the head of the table, there's homework to do before a group ever gathers. It make the job of leading so much easier.
